The Lords: A disgrace

The House of Lords, Britain's second chamber, is a disgrace. Its inhabitants, mostly appointees by the political parties, gain their ermine trimmed robes in exchange for favours or generous donations to the establishment parties. It is also a way for favoured ex-politicians to keep their noses in the parliamentary trough. Very few of the occupants have the skills or experience to be an important part of the law-making process.

So, can anybody tell me how the appointment of Doreen Lawrence as a peer will enhance the British parliamentary system? She came to fame following the murder of her son Stephen Lawrence, and a botched police investigation into his murder. Her supporters describe her as "a unique voice against injustice". If suffering the racial murder of a child is now accepted criteria for a peerage, then when will we see the parents of Charlene Downes, don ermine?

Or is it a racial thing?

Our Thanks

Our thanks to the Nationalist Comrades who demonstrated outside the Old Bailey calling for the death penalty for the killers of Lee Rigby. But why wasn't there hundreds of Muslims supporting this call as well? Both of the murderers, and most other Muslims, advocate the introduction of Sharia Law into Britain, and under Sharia Law both men would have been sentenced to death!

Hypocrisy

So the West is upset over Russia invading and annexing their former territory, Crimea. War talk and sanctions abound in the corridors of power. But why do we not hear such threats when Israeli troops invade the Palestinian homelands and murder innocent civilians?

I think it's called Hypocrisy

Elections 2014

Make Immigration THE Issue

With local council elections and European elections both taking place on May 22nd, a recent IPSOS/MORI poll has revealed immigration is the priority issue to most British voters. British nationalists should be looking forward to the most successful elections for many years, but sadly this is unlikely. Internal splits, disillusioned members, and a lack of resources have caused British nationalist parties to be in a weaker position now, than they have been for a long time.

The two European parliament seats won by the BNP in the last election have already been reduced to one, due to Andrew Brons leaving the BNP to form his own party.

The impact of mass immigration into Britain is as relevant in council elections as it is in national ones. Every large council has been faced with providing extra services, housing and school places for the influx of immigrants.

Immigration is an issue that the main parties have avoided for years, and with good reason. A recent report by the highly respected Migrationwatch has revealed that since 1995 immigrants have cost Britain £140 billion, or £22 million a day! This reflects their contributions to the economy against the cost of providing extra resources and the cost of the benefits they have been paid.

The Labour party are the biggest culprits for allowing almost unrestricted immigration into Britain during their time in power. Now they promise to tighten immigration controls. Nationalist candidates must continually remind voters of Labour's record on immigration. Yes, Labour can't be trusted.

Four Million Foreign Migrants have arrived in Britain since 1997

The Lib-Dems are opposed to any serious immigration controls, and would happily allow millions more immigrants, refugees and Asylum seekers into Britain.

The Tories are simply liars! Having promised to bring down immigration to "tens of thousands", official figures show that in just six months 200,000 immigrants arrived on these shores! When asked how many Romanians took advantage on the lifting of migration restrictions earlier this year, a Tory spokesman said, "It has been just a trickle, not a flood". When pressed for numbers, the spokesman admitted they had no idea of the numbers of Romanians who have come here!

UKIP is the biggest threat to the nationalist vote. But, the well funded Populist Party, only seems concerned with immigration from the European Union.

So these elections should be the most fruitful for nationalists for some years. But, as we go to print we have no idea of the numbers of council candidates being fielded by British nationalists but, we have seen an internal bulletin which suggests that for the first time in recent history the National Front will not be standing any candidates in either local elections or the European elections. However, a NF insider told League Sentinel that the party hoped to overcome internal issues in time to field some local election candidates, but ruled out standing in the EU elections.

BNP branches have been busy organising funding and candidate selection and it is hoped they will stand a realistic number of candidates in both local and EU elections.

The New British Union party have decided not to contest any of the elections, preferring to use their resources to build up their party

The English Democrats have already announced nine EU candidates, and will be contesting the seats currently held by Nick Griffin and Andrew Brons.

We wish all nationalist candidates the best of luck in their campaigns. A victory for them, is a victory for us all!

Nationalists Demand Death Penalty for Lee Rigby Killers

Over 200 Nationalists from the British National Party and English Defence League demonstrated outside the Old Bailey calling for the death penalty, as the murderers of Drummer Lee Rigby were being sentenced to life imprisonment. The killers, Michael Adebolajo was given a "whole life" sentence, and Michael Adebowale, received a life sentence with a minimum to be served of 45 years before he could be considered for parole. The men hacked the soldier to death in May last year after first running him over in a car, near to his barracks in Woolwich, South London.

As the men were being sentenced, Nationalists outside the court erected gallows, and called for both killers to be hanged. An EDL member told League Sentinel, "Most of our prisons are controlled by Muslim gangs and these two men will be treated as heroes in prison. They should be hanged".

Nationalists Call for the Death Penalty

Cameron Backs Kosher Animal Slaughter

As Denmark becomes the latest European country to ban the ritual slaughter of animals, the British Prime Minister, David Cameron has promised the Jewish community that he "Would never allow a ban on religious slaughter of animals in Britain".

This method of animal slaughter, where the animal has its throat cut without being stunned first, is practiced as "Kosher" by the Jewish community and "Halal" by Muslims, and has been condemned as "causing unnecessary suffering" by Britain's new chief vet. But Cameron continues to ignore the views of animal welfare experts who describe the practice as "cruel", and publicly pledged, "On my watch, religious slaughter is safe in the UK".

When asked for a comment on Cameron's announcement, a prominent animal welfare activist told League Sentinel, "Jews and Muslims can vote and make donations" animals cannot. So their screams of pain are ignored by this Tory government"

Immigrant Gang Rape Girls as Young as 12

"Migrants bring benefits to Britain" is the mantra of those opposed to rigorous immigration control. But in Peterborough, a town that has been literally invaded by East-European migrants over the past few years, a gang of migrants conducted a campaign of rape and sexual abuse that the Crown Prosecution Service described as "one of the worst examples of child sex abuse it had ever seen". The gang, Zdeno Mirga and three teenage boys, were all from the Roma community, and the other adult, Hassan Abdulla, is an Iraqi Kurd. None could speak English fluently. Despite this, they managed to groom five vulnerable English girls between 12 and 14 years-old and then abused them. Then, not satisfied with satisfying their own depraved needs, the gang forced the girls to have sex with strangers for money. One 13 year-old was forced to have sex with ten men in one session.

Hassan Abdulla, 33, was convicted of four rapes and three counts of sexual abuse, Zdeno Mirga, 18, (pictured below) was convicted of eight rapes and one count of inciting child prostitution.

Zdeno Mirga. Eight Rapes

Three teenage boys, who for legal reasons were not named until sentencing, were convicted of various offences including rape, sexual assault and sexual activity with a child. Zdeno Mirga, described as the "ring leader" was sentenced to 16 years and six months in a young offenders institution, Hassan Abdulla, described by the judge as a "dangerous predatory paedophile" was jailed for twenty years, Renato Balog, a Roma who helped Abdullah to sell drugs, was sentenced to 12 years, Jan Kandrak, also a Roma was sentenced to five and a half years, and an unnamed 14 year old Roma was sentenced to six months youth rehabilitation order. The judge also recommended that all those receiving a custodial sentence should be deported upon release.

Meanwhile, Peterborough awaits the next influx of Eastern European migrants to see just what benefits they bring!

Muslim Woman allowed to wear full face veil in court

A Muslim woman made legal history by appearing in court wearing a full face veil. Rebekah Dawson, aged 22, faces charges of threatening a caretaker of her local Mosque, and one charge of intimidating a witness.

Face veil must be removed while giving evidence in Court

Dawson insisted that forcing her to remove the veil would violate her human rights. The Judge accepted that "freedom of religious expression" should be recognised but, ruled that Dawson would have to remove the veil if she wished to give evidence. "Jurors being unable to see her while she gives evidence was contrary to the principle of open justice, which overrides religious belief".

GROOMING: OFFICIAL REPORT

"Police Ignored Asian Grooming Gangs to Avoid Accusations of Racism"

An official report into the grooming scandal in Rochdale, have concluded that the police and social services ignored evidence that white schoolgirls were being specifically targeted and groomed for sex by older Pakistani men for fear of being accused of "racism".

As a result, hundreds of young girls were allowed to fall into the hands of Asian paedophiles.

Incredibly, some Greater Manchester Police chiefs still dismiss race as being an issue, instead advocating the girls were targeted because they were vulnerable, not because they were white.

But the report has been backed by Rochdale's Labour MP, Simon Daneczuk, who said "ethnicity was definitely a factor. Tory Asian Baroness Warsi, also backed the report, saying there existed a minority of Pakistani men who saw white girls as "fair game".

The report condemned seventeen agencies in Rochdale, including police, social workers, child care agencies and the Crown Prosecution Service for failing to protect the victims. One 15 year-old girl told police that she had been abused a repeatedly raped by a gang of Asian men was told she had made a "lifestyle choice" and sex with the men was "her own decision". Following police advice, the Crown Prosecution Service decided not to take the case to trial, and the abuse continued.

all white and some as young as 13 were thought to have been abused by the gang. Two were forced to have abortions by the gang. Some of the abuse was thought to have being going on for over ten years!

Last year, nine men, eight Pakistanis (pictured above) and an Afghan, were eventually jailed for grooming white school girls in Rochdale for sex. Forty-seven girls, Unfortunately, much of the report has large sections "redacted" making identification of the individuals responsible for failing the victims impossible. This will no doubt lead to those responsible for the betrayal of these young girls never being held to account.

Failure to investigate the victims complaints, and failure to support the victims should be treated as "gross misconduct". Purging the Greater Manchester police and the other agencies involved, of those that failed the victims is a must. Dismissals must follow!

The Pakistani community in Rochdale must also shoulder some responsibility for the "wall of silence" they maintained during the years of abuse. Mohammed Shafiq, of the Muslim Ramadan Foundation condemned the elders of the community for "burying their heads in the sand" on the matter, but many white people will simply view them as "accomplices".

GROOMING

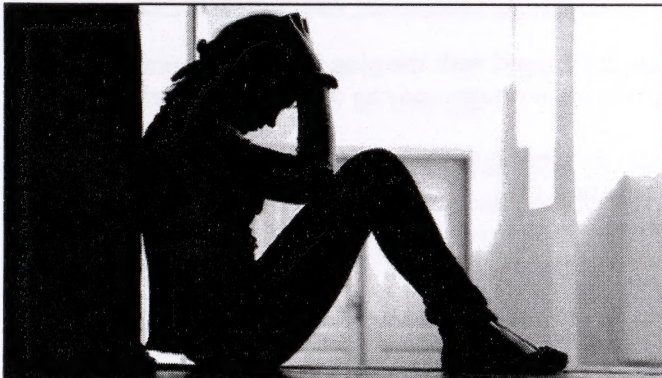

More Asian Paedophiles Jailed for Grooming

Three Asian men from Middlesbrough have been jailed for sexual offences against five white girls aged between 13 and 15 years old.

The girls had been carefully groomed and then bullied into providing sexual services for the men and close friends and family members of the accused.

In a worrying new development, the court was told that the girls had been taunted and insulted by friends and family members of the accused since reporting the crimes. They have been bombarded with obscene messages accusing them of being sluts, and being "white trash" at home and at school.

for 3 years for two counts of arranging or facilitating the commission of a child sex offence.

Paedophile: 32 year-old Shakil Munir

Paedophiles Victims Are Still Being Harassed

Even members of the victim's families have been threatened and abused. The car of a victim's family member had been vandalised and the mother of one of the girls told the court she had been forced to move home because of the intimidation.

Somewhat strangely, the Judge told the jury that the defendants could not be held responsible for the "shameful behaviour" of others, without explaining how he had come to this conclusion.

All three defendants were found guilty.

Shakil Munir, aged 32, of Tollesby Road, Middlesbrough, was sentenced to 8 years in prison after being found guilty of four counts of sexual activity with a child, and one of abduction.

Sakeb Ahmed, aged 19, from Cambridge Road, Middlesbrough, was also jailed for 8 years for five counts of sexual activity with a child.

Ateeq Latif, aged 17, from Abingdon Road, Middlesbrough, was sent to a young offenders institute

Because of the hostility towards the victims and members of their families attending the trial from Asian paedophile supporters, a 20 strong group from the English Defence League demonstrated their support for the victims outside the court.

Police prevented clashes between EDL and the defendant's supporters.

LEBENSBOHN

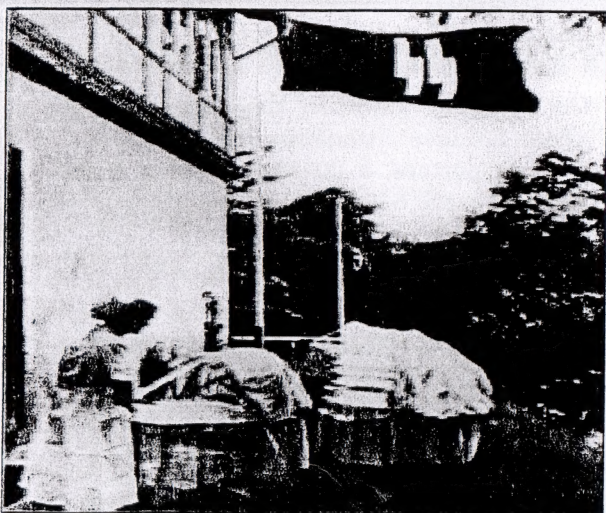

Popular History as Sex Fantasy

LEBENSBOHN

BY SIEGFRIED EGEL

Mention "Lebensborn" to most people today, and they will give you a blank stare. If anything, they would probably confuse it with "Lebensraum" — German for living space, or elbow room. But a few decades ago, the name had a suggestive ring. And the organization it stood for had been in fact an SS affiliate. Little wonder, then, that the post-World War II rumour mongers and fantasy peddlers had such a merry time with it. Even today, the man in the street misremembers dimly that the Hitler regime had some sort of racist scheme to operate human stud farms, with the party faithful acting as the studs and blond-haired, blue-eyed girls as the recipients of their "service." During the incarceration of Dr. Udo Walendy, Siegfried Egel has been carrying forward his work on Historische Tatsachen (Historical facts). The following article from that series is translated by Andrew Gray.

"Himmler's baby factories," "SS bordellos," and "breeding farms for the master race"—these were just a few of the provocative terms invented by pornographers and anti-German propagandists which have been used to describe Lebensborn e.V. (e.V stands for "registered association," or in German, eingetragener Verein). Actually this SS affiliate was nothing so titillating or sinister. It was in fact nothing more than a system of lying-in hospitals for pregnant women. But multitudes at the time leapt at the chance to believe the worst whenever Germans were concerned—and, sadly, that is still the case today.

SS Funded Maternity Hospital. "Lebensborn"

Predictably enough, the U.S. Military Tribunal rose to the occasion after the war and opened, on October 10, 1947, formal proceedings against the surviving leaders of this organization. The prosecution brought three principal counts against them.

Count 1: Charged with "crimes against humanity", based on the abduction of foreign children for the purpose of Germanization or extermination.

Count 2: Charged with the plunder of public and private property in Germany and the occupied territories.

Count 3: Charged with membership of a criminal organization. (SS)

The trial lasted five months. According to the verdict delivered on March 10, 1948, the three chief SS officers in command of Lebensborn e.V. — Max Sollman, Gregor Ebner and Gunther Tesch — were acquitted on the first two counts and convicted only on the third one, as of course the SS itself had been declared a "criminal organization" in the prior Nuremberg kangaroo court.

The head nurse, Inge Viermetz, was acquitted on all counts.

This should have put an end to all the propaganda nonsense, but needless to say, it did no such thing. Lebensborn (the word means, literally, "wellspring of life") lives to this day in the popular imagination as an SS sex park.

Revisionist historian Erich Kern later summarized the facts about Lebensborn in these terms:

"Lebensborn e.V. was among the most exemplary charitable organizations of its time. Founded in 1936, it grew to include a total of 18 lying-in hospitals. These also served as temporary homes for orphans. More than 11,000 children first saw the light of day in them. Unwed mothers, it is true, were also accepted by these hospitals, but in such cases every effort was made to arrange subsequent marriages with the biological fathers, and the organization offered further care to the extent needed.

Lebensborn

Continued ...

"This often included help in securing living quarters. In special cases adoptions were arranged. The facilities, admittedly, were not available to all German women. There were in fact racial requirements, and proof of Aryan ancestry including all four grandparents had to be provided. Women with obvious genetic defects were also excluded.

Lebensborn: Ninety-percent of the women giving birth had no links to the SS.

"But the facilities, though financed entirely from monthly contributions by SS members, were not restricted to SS use alone. During the war years, up to 90 percent of the women giving birth there were wives of soldiers and officers of the army, navy and air force."

As to the charge that Lebensborn participated in a program for the Germanization of children abducted from the conquered territories, the U.S. Military Tribunal found no substantiating evidence whatsoever. On the contrary, it found Lebensborn policy was to make every effort to bring orphaned children together with their surviving next of kin. Children transferred to Lebensborn orphanage facilities by other organizations always received the best possible care. No instances of cruelty or sexual abuse of any sort were ever adduced.

These factual and judicial findings, however, proved no barrier to the myth makers. Early in the 1950s, the German illustrated magazine Revue ran a sensationalistic series purporting to show Lebensborn as a "breeding farm for the master race."

The nonsense reached its apogee in a late 1950s German film, by Arthur Brauner, entitled simply Lebensborn e. V. In Brauner's cinematic fantasy these lying-in hospitals underwent a transmutation into sex parks. This film was an instant hit and was circulated throughout the globe.

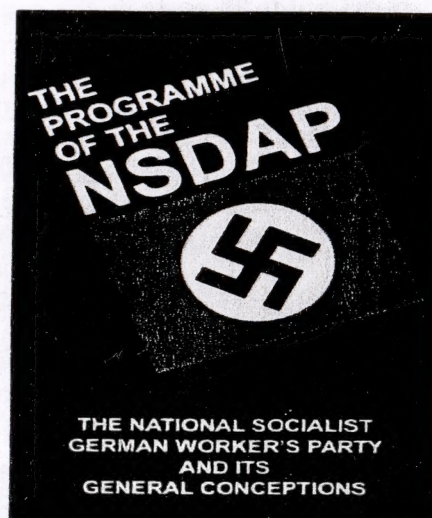

All attempts to block this defamation of German men and women failed in the court system. As a result, to this day, the term "Lebensborn" often arouses even in literate people a vision of beautiful, scantily clad young women offering themselves to SS officers. It is a complete fiction. Yet, when was truth ever a bar to popular misconceptions about the Third Reich?

Actually, when you come right down to it, the National Socialists and SS were quite prudish. So are most authoritarian regimes.

Casual sex is for democracies!

Ukrainian Nationalists Lead Revolution

Ukrainian nationalists from the Svoboda party have assumed leading roles in both the political and street protests that led to the overthrow of the Ukrainian government. Svoboda, the fourth largest party in Ukraine holds 36 seats in the country's parliament.

Formed in 1995, Svoboda (Freedom) restricts its membership to ethnic Ukrainians. In addition to its political activities, Svoboda also has a well-drilled street protest unit, which led many of the recent protests against the corrupt pro-Russian President. Over 500 Svoboda militants led the occupation of government buildings and organised the toppling of a statue of the Soviet mass murderer, Lenin.

Svoboda leader, Oleh Tyahnybok, publicly condemned the Ukrainian government as a "Moscow-Jewish mafia".

Denmark Bans Halal and Kosher Slaughter

Following a long campaign by a coalition of nationalists and animal welfare groups, the Danish government have announced a ban on the religious slaughter of animals by methods used by Muslims and Jews. European animal welfare regulations require animals to be stunned before slaughter, but grants exemptions on religious grounds. For meat to be considered Halal under Islamic law, or Kosher under Jewish dietary laws, the animal must be conscious at the time of slaughter. This practice has been condemned as extremely cruel by animal welfare groups worldwide.

Announcing the government's decision to end the exemption the Danish Minister for Food and Agriculture told a press conference "Animal rights and welfare come before religion".

Jewish groups have condemned the move as "Anti-Semitic", whilst Islamic religious authorities have launched a petition calling for the ban to be reversed. A spokesman for the nationalist, Danish People's Party told League Sentinel, "Causing unnecessary pain to animals is not the Danish way. We are delighted with the ban".

Poland

Plans to Strip Hitler of "Honorary Citizenship" Fails

Demands by Jewish groups and left-wing activists that Adolf Hitler should be stripped of the honorary citizenship of the Polish town of Szezecin have been refused by the town council.

Quite why this has become an issue almost 70 years after the death of the former German leader is a mystery to most locals. But a council spokesman explained their decision to take no action was quite simple. "Herr Hitler was awarded honorary citizenship of the town in 1933 at a time when Szezecin (Stettin) was part of the German Third Reich. Poles were not responsible for this decision, it was a German decision, and we cannot change it".

Swiss vote to Cap EU Migration

Swiss voters have backed a proposal by the patriotic, Swiss People's Party, to cap the number of immigrants coming to work and live in Switzerland. Following pressure from the SPP, the government agreed to hold a referendum on the issue, and were surprised when 50.3% of voters supported the introduction of an immigration cap. In the last year, 80,000 migrants arrived in Switzerland, where migrants now make up over a quarter of the population of 8 million people.

Greece

Golden Dawn MPs Jailed

Two MPs from the patriotic, Golden Dawn party have been imprisoned on charges of "directing a criminal organisation". The charges followed the Greek governments' decision to accuse the democratically elected Golden Dawn party of being a criminal organisation. The accusation revolves around the murder, last September, of left-wing musician, Pavlos Fyssas. Several members of Golden Dawn have been charged with his murder. The government also allege that Golden Dawn have been organising Paramilitary "assault militias" to carry out violent attacks on political opponents and asylum seekers.

Party-leader Nikos Michaloliakos, has been held in custody since October, along with his deputy, while police investigate Golden Dawn's activities. Many political observers feel that the accusations and arrests have been cynically designed to cripple the party, at a time when Golden Dawn's support was growing amongst the voting public. "The government are frightened that Golden Dawn will make major gains in the forthcoming

Nation Europa

European Elections: DO THEY MATTER?

On the 22nd of May, Britons will be invited to vote to appoint representatives to sit in the European Parliament. But does it matter?

As far as we are aware, all of the British nationalist groups that are contesting seats, are in favour of leaving the EU. This position is also the main theme of UKIP, who are favourites to make the most gains in the elections.

In fact, the only parties advocating Britain stays in, are the Labour and Lib-Dems. The Tories are yet to make up their minds. The "stay in" policy is also supported by a few self-opinionated ex-Mosleyites, who seem to feel that the current EU somehow reflects Sir Oswald's vision for "Europe a Nation". "Mosley campaigned for Britain in Europe in the 1975 elections" they say, yes, but the EU then comprised of just 8 nations, "Old Europe," not the 28 nations that now control Britain's future. Today's EU is not the "Europe a Nation" that Mosley campaigned for.

Mosley: "Europe a Nation"

Did Mosley campaign for a Europe where over 400 million people would have the absolute right to settle in Britain? The right to child benefit, free housing, free education, free health services and legal aid? I don't think so. Did Mosley support the idea that a European Court could decide whether Britain could deport foreign criminals such as rapists and murderers from its shores? No!

So do these European elections matter to British nationalists? Well yes they do. The more Euro seats British nationalists and UKIP wins, the more power we will hold in the European Parliament. More power to change rules that we don't like, and more power to negotiate Britain's withdrawal from the EU if necessary.

But whilst British nationalists and UKIP advocate Britain's withdrawal from the EU, Marine Le Pen, (pictured right) leader of the French Front National claims if European nationalists capture enough seats and form a voting bloc, they can achieve massive changes to EU policies, including border controls, immigration and benefit tourists. "With a bloc of just 150 Euro MEPs, we can control the EU" she told a press conference in Brussels recently.

Over the past few months she has been holding talks with nationalist MEPs from Austria, Flanders and the Netherlands on this subject.

Front National made massive gains in local council elections recently, winning over 1,200 seats and taking control of eleven councils. It is tipped to repeat this success at the forthcoming Euro elections.

Being a candidate in any election is a daunting task. We call upon all nationalists to lend a hand in gaining more Euro seats. Whether Britain ultimately leaves the EU to start again, or remains to fight with other European Comrades to turn a New Europa into Europe a Nation, doing nothing is NOT an option!
